("AD-DSL")

AD-DSL Substance Groups

Groups have been established for substances on the AD-DSL to allow requesting companies the flexibility in the selection of substances used in supplier materials declarations. The use of groups allows users of the AD-DSL to limit required supplier reporting to a smaller subset of the AD-DSL, according to the requestor's need for information. Three groupings for the substances on the AD-DSL have been established:

Group 1:

Substances prohibited for presence/use in mixtures/materials or articles by regulatory requirements or that have been identified for prohibition or that will require authorization for its continued use.

Group 2:

Substances for which a regulatory requirement requires the disclosure, tracking or specific labelling (in addition to what is required by regulatory chemical hazard communication requirements) if present in supplied mixtures/materials or articles.

Group 3:

Substances that are regulated and have the potential to be prohibited or restricted or to likely have associated required disclosure requirements in the future.
